

Leukine.com Privacy Policy

Privacy Policy

Last Updated and Effective: January 1, 2020

Partner Therapeutics, Inc. respects the interest that visitors to our websites have in understanding what information is collected electronically, how it is collected, to whom it is or may be disclosed, and how it is used. Partner Therapeutics, Inc. has developed this online Privacy Policy to address those questions.

You should be aware that Partner Therapeutics, Inc. is not a healthcare provider (eg, doctor, hospital, pharmacist, etc.) and therefore is generally not subject to the Privacy Rule under the Health Insurance

Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA). To the extent that HIPAA imposes requirements on healthcare providers relating to individually identifiable healthcare information, those requirements may not apply to Partner Therapeutics, Inc.

This Policy Includes:

- Important limitation to this online Privacy Policy
- Collection of Personal Information
- How Personal Information may be used
- Who Personal Information may be disclosed to
- Security
- Visitor tracking information
- Cookies
- Google Analytics
- WebLogs
- How to stop getting communications
- Correcting or Deleting Personal Information
- Updates to this Privacy Policy

BY USING THIS WEBSITE, YOU AGREE TO BE BOUND THE TERMS OF THIS NOTICE AND THE TERMS OF USE.

Important limitations to this online Privacy Policy

- This policy addresses only information that is or may be collected on our US websites – which are NOT intended to be used by non-US residents. Age restrictions may also apply.
- This policy applies only to information collected on websites that are directly linked to this policy, and does not apply to information collected in other areas, whether online or offline. This policy does not apply to third-party websites that may be accessed through a link from a site covered by this policy. You should review the privacy policies of any third-party websites to understand how that site collects, uses, and discloses any Personal Information or non-Personal Information (as defined below).

- Our US websites are not intended for, or designed to attract, individuals under the age of 13, or to collect Personal Information (as defined below) from children either directly or through passive information technology such as cookies.
- This policy does not apply to information collected through applications on mobile or personal devices, even if the application may be accessed through a link from a site covered by this policy.

Collection of Personal Information

“Personal Information” is information that directly identifies you or could reasonably be used in combination with other information to identify you and which is submitted to and/or collected by Partner Therapeutics, Inc. websites and maintained by or for Partner Therapeutics, Inc. in an accessible form. Examples of Personal Information that directly identifies you can include your name, driver’s license number, social security number, biometric or genetic data, street address, telephone number, email address, and other similar information. Examples of Personal Information that when combined with other information may be able to identify you include race, gender, date of birth, health condition or status, employment status, zip code, and other similar information. Both types of information are considered “Personal Information” for the purposes of this policy.

Please do not submit any Personal Information if you do not want it to be collected. You should be aware, however, that without providing requested information, you may not be able to participate in particular features or activities that require such information.

Certain areas of our websites allow you to contact us to ask questions or provide comments or other information. Please be aware that when you ask questions or provide comments or other information, you may be disclosing Personal Information.

Non-Personal Information is information that is not personal, such as questions, comments, ideas, and suggestions that you provide, or information that we may collect that is not linked to any Personal Information. Non-Personal Information will be treated as non-confidential, and we may disclose and/or use that information without any obligation whatsoever to you, for any purpose and through any means.

How Personal Information may be used

If you provide us with Personal Information, we may use that information to contact you by e-mail, regular mail, telephone, or other means, to provide you with information you requested about specific products or services, provide additional future information about products or services that may be of interest to you, and to learn about and develop products and services concerning a particular disease or condition (e.g., market research). Other or additional information about use of your Personal Information may appear at the point where you are asked to provide Personal Information in a form or data field.

Partner Therapeutics, Inc. may combine your Personal Information provided on one Partner Therapeutics, Inc. website with Personal Information provided in other online or offline records held by Partner Therapeutics, Inc., and/or with records provided by third parties. Partner Therapeutics, Inc. may also combine your Personal Information with information gathered through cookies, web logs, and other visitor tracking technologies, discussed further below. We use this consolidated information to help us better design Partner Therapeutics, Inc. websites and products, to communicate information to you, to enhance our marketing and research activities, and to facilitate other business functions.

Who Personal Information may be disclosed to Partner Therapeutics, Inc. will not transfer or allow access to your Personal Information to third parties, except (i) to affiliated entities within Partner Therapeutics, Inc., whether inside the United States or in other countries; (ii) to vendors and service providers who provide services to us (e.g., market research) or who assist us in providing service to you (e.g., a fulfillment company for processing and mailing purposes); (iii) in connection with security-related or law enforcement investigations or in the course of cooperating with authorities; (iv) to comply with legal requirements or to establish or exercise our legal rights or defend against legal claims; (v) when we believe it is necessary to share information to assist in an investigation regarding, or to prevent, illegal activities, suspected fraud, or situations involving potential threats to the safety of any person; (vi) upon a sale, merger, assignment, or transfer of the business of the website to which the information relates; and (vii) to third parties with whom Partner Therapeutics, Inc. is jointly marketing a product or service or jointly conducting a program or activity. Any affiliated entity, vendor, or service provider, or other third party who is permitted access to, or to whom we transfer, Personal Information is required to keep your Personal Information confidential.

Security

Partner Therapeutics, Inc. takes reasonable precautions to keep Personal Information secure against unauthorized access and use. However, the confidentiality of Personal Information transmitted over the Internet cannot be guaranteed. We urge you to exercise caution when transmitting Personal Information over the Internet, especially Personal Information related to your health. Partner Therapeutics, Inc. cannot guarantee that unauthorized third parties will not gain access to your Personal Information; therefore, when submitting Personal Information to Partner Therapeutics, Inc. websites, you must weigh both the benefits and the risks.

Visitor tracking information

Cookies

Partner Therapeutics, Inc. websites may use a tracking technology called a “cookie.” A “cookie” is a small text file that a website can place on your computer’s hard drive in order, for example, to collect information about your activities on the site, to track your preferences and selections, or to show you advertisements based on your interests, such as banner ads relating to Partner Therapeutics, Inc. products and services. Cookies may be placed on your computer by Partner Therapeutics, Inc. (a “first-party cookie”) or by another company or advertiser that Partner Therapeutics, Inc. engages to provide services or advertising on a Partner Therapeutics, Inc. website (a “third-party cookie”). It is possible that these cookies could be used in combination with other information to identify you.

Information stored in first-party cookies associated with a Partner Therapeutics, Inc. website will be transmitted back to us. Information stored in third-party cookies may be transmitted to the party placing the cookie, so that they can deliver to you messages and advertisements based on your interests as you browse the Internet. You may be able to opt-out of third parties using cookies to deliver interest-based advertising to you by visiting www.aboutads.info/choices/. With most Internet browsers, you can also erase cookies from your computer's hard drive, block all cookies, block specific kinds of cookies, or even receive a warning before a cookie is placed on your system. Refer to your browser instructions or help button to learn more about cookies. You should be aware, however, that cookies might be necessary to provide you with certain features (eg, customized delivery of information) available on Partner Therapeutics, Inc. websites. In addition, certain web browsers and other programs may be used to signal your preferences to Partner Therapeutics, Inc. about how or whether Partner Therapeutics, Inc. or third parties may collect information about your online activities. Currently, Partner Therapeutics, Inc. does not respond to such signals.

Google Analytics

Some of our websites use Google Analytics, a web analytics service provided by Google, Inc. ("Google"). Google Analytics uses cookies to analyze use patterns and may collect information about your use of the website, including your IP address. More information on Google Analytics can be found here: www.google.com/policies/privacy/partners/.

Web Logs

Partner Therapeutics, Inc. websites may also automatically collect and store web log information relating to your computer and your visit, such as the name of the domain and host from which you access the Internet; the Internet address of the website from which you linked to a Partner Therapeutics, Inc. website; the date and time you accessed a Partner Therapeutics, Inc. website; how long you spent and which pages you visited; your computer's operating system and browser software; and your Internet protocol (IP) address. An IP address is a number assigned to your computer by your Internet Service Provider so you can access the Internet. This number may change each time you connect to the Internet ("dynamic IP address") or it may remain constant ("static IP address"). If you have a static IP address, it is possible that this address could be used in combination with other information to identify you.

Opting Out of Certain Analytics and Marketing Activities

The Digital Advertising Alliance maintains a website where consumers can opt-out from receiving interest-based advertising from some or all of the advertising companies participating in the program (www.AboutAds.info/choices/). The Network Advertising Initiative also maintains an opt-out page (<http://optout.networkadvertising.org>) where consumers can opt-out of receiving interest-based advertisements from companies participating in that program.

You may find information about Google Analytics and Google's privacy notice by visiting Google's website here: www.google.com/policies/privacy/partners/. If you would like to opt-out of having your data used by these cookies, please use the Google Analytics opt-out available here: <https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout/>. This opt-out applies only to Google Analytics and will not affect the functioning of other forms of analytics.

In addition, most internet browsers allow you to change your browser settings to notify you when you receive a cookie, which lets you choose whether or not to accept it, or to automatically refuse all cookies. Please be aware that some functionality on some of our websites and online resources relies on the use of cookies and may not be available should you choose to refuse all cookies.

How may I correct or delete Personal Information?

You may request that we remove your Personal Information from our current customer records or that we amend your Personal Information. For record keeping purposes, we may retain certain Personal Information you submit in conjunction with commercial transactions. Click on Contact Us to notify us of your wishes.

How Can You Contact Us About This Policy?

If you have any questions or concerns about the way your information is used and handled, please write to:

Partner Therapeutics, Inc.
Attn: Chief Administrative Officer
19 Muzzey Street
Lexington, MA 02142

Your California Privacy Rights:

The California Consumer Privacy Act of 2018 (CCPA) gives California residents the right to know what Personal Information Partner Therapeutics collects about them, including whether it is being sold or disclosed to third parties. The CCPA also grants certain rights to California residents, including the right to delete their Personal Information (subject to certain exceptions) and the right to prevent Partner Therapeutics from selling their Personal Information. Companies are also prohibited from retaliating or discriminating against consumers for exercising their rights under the CCPA.

Updates to this Privacy Policy

Without prejudice to your rights under applicable law, Partner Therapeutics, Inc. reserves the right to amend this Privacy Policy without prior notice to reflect technological advancements, legal and regulatory changes, and good business practices. If Partner Therapeutics, Inc. changes its privacy practices, an updated version of this Privacy Policy will reflect those changes and we will notify you of such changes by updating the effective date at the top of this Privacy Policy.

Thank you for your interest in Partner Therapeutics, Inc.